ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE

When people share values and have a common objective, extraordinary results can be achieved.

Our Organizational Culture program’s main objective is to transmit the organization’s mission, perspective and values so participants can adopt them as their own.

We will help each participant:

- Reveal the importance and significance of having a Mission, Perspective and Values.
- Transmit to all participants the reason for the Mission, Perspective and Values.
- Lead all participants to focus on those three points.
- Materialize the culture by identifying its external manifestations: behaviors and their manifestation.
- Provide real examples and stories to show the day-to-day participants’ behaviors associated with the values.
- Adopt the values as their own and seek to involve all participants in complying with them.
